Audition Script:

Setting:

Kofu, commander of the orc army, has just had an unsatisfying argument with his leader, Grock. Kofu grows impatient by the day waiting for Grock to give the order to attack the citadel. Always looking to please his commander, Aide-de-Camp offers a few suggestions for Kofu to consider.

INT. GROCK'S THRONE SIDE ROOM - NIGHT

SCENE 31. SET 23C.

Alone with his aide in the waiting chamber, Kofu pauses and develops a deep snarl. He glances back as the doors close behind them.

AIDE
(softly)

In ORC: The wizard is no replacement for who that throne was made for.

Kofu continues to stare contemptuously at the doors.

The Aide notices his commander's look and leans closer.

AIDE

In ORC: There are moments when one is called to weigh following the orders of an ill-begotten commander against assuming control.

There is a momentary glint in Kofu's eyes, but just as quickly, he snuffs out the notion with a shake of the head.

KOFU

In ORC: I will not tolerate sedition in our ranks... until I say it is time. Is that clear?

The Aide bends at the waist, his arms out wide, in a sign of submission.

AIDE

In ORC: Of course, Commander. I meant merely that I am at your service... whatever that may entail.

KOFU

In ORC: Your pledge does not go unnoticed. But our demon lord would be very displeased if she knew of what you speak.

AIDE

In ORC: Then it is time to enlighten her on the current state of affairs. I doubt she would appreciate Grock misleading her on his mastery of his device.

KOFU

In ORC: Yes. See that the demon lord receives an update on our lack of progress... and on Grock's falsehoods.

AIDE

(suddenly pleased)

In ORC: And what of this Cleric?

KOFU

In ORC: Grock believes this human is valuable, so I won't leave that charge for some incompetent goblin to cock up. I will take care of him personally.
